Note From the Pote...

Nobles, Ladies, and Guests,

As the warm embrace of summer approaches, I would like to take this opportunity to reflect on some of the remarkable achievements of the past few months, and it fills my heart with great pride to see the strength and vibrancy of our beloved fraternity. While our regular meetings may slow down during the summer months, let us remember that the enthusiasm for our mission and our spirit of fellowship must never take a break.

I am pleased to share that we have welcomed thirteen new nobles into our fraternity during this past Spring Ceremonial! Each new member brings a level of fresh energy, new ideas, and a commitment to carry forward the legacy of our great fraternity. As we reflect on this exciting expansion, let us also acknowledge the role each of you plays in making El Zaribah a welcoming, inclusive, and inspiring community. It is your enthusiasm, your dedication, and your example that will inspire others to take the necessary steps to join us.

A Marvelous Easter Brunch: Just this past spring, we gathered together to celebrate our annual Easter Brunch—a truly wonderful event that embodied the spirit of camaraderie and generosity that defines our fraternity. From the delicious food to the laughter shared among friends, this event reminded us of the bonds that unite us and the joy we experience in each other's company.

I want to express my heartfelt thanks to all who helped make the Easter Brunch a tremendous success, from the planning stages to the day of the event. It is your hard work and commitment that make all the difference.

The Extraordinary Shriners Golf Tournament: Another incredible achievement that deserves special mention was the tremendous success of our Shriners Golf Tournament. This event brought together golfers from throughout the Phoenix area (and some from outside of Arizona!) for a day of friendly competition, fun, and fellowship. The turnout was extraordinary, and it is clear that our community is eager to support the work of the Shriners in such a meaningful way.

A heartfelt "thank you" to all those who organized, participated in, and supported the golf tournament. Your efforts made this event a resounding success, and it is a testament to what we can accomplish when we work together.

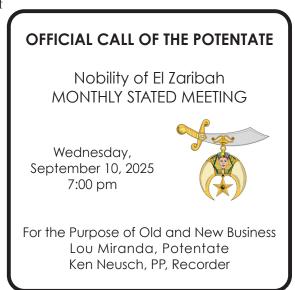

Looking Ahead - Imperial Session in Atlanta: As we head into summer, there is much to look forward to with the upcoming Imperial Session in Atlanta. This event will bring together Shriners from all over the world, not only to conduct the important business of our organization, but also to renew friendships, celebrate our shared achievements, and strengthen the bonds of fellowship. The Imperial Session is always filled with inspiring speakers, enjoyable activities, and opportunities for Shriners of all ages to connect.

I encourage each of you to make plans to attend if you are able. There is no better way to experience the true spirit of Shriners International than by joining us at this remarkable gathering. The Imperial Session will provide an invaluable opportunity for personal growth, enrichment, and fellowship. I know it will be a time of fun, learning, and making memories that will last a lifetime.

A Call to Action: Although summer means a slower pace for some of our regular meetings, it also offers us a unique opportunity to reach out, renew old connections, and get involved in new ways. The strength of El Zaribah lies in our collective spirit, and it is this spirit that will carry us into the future. I urge each of you to continue the work of recruiting new members, sharing the excitement of our events, and living out the values that make us who we are. The more we involve ourselves, the more we inspire others to join us. Together, we can ensure that El Zaribah continues to thrive for generations to come. Let us continue to keep the flame of enthusiasm burning brightly, and let us welcome new nobles into our ranks with open arms.

Thank you for all that you do, and for your continued commitment to making El Zaribah great! I look forward to all we will accomplish together in the coming months.

My best regards, Lou Miranda, Past Master 2025 Potentate

From the High Priest & Prophet

Nobles, once again it is that time of year that our Temple goes dark for the summer. But does that mean that all of our fun and camaraderie goes away? Certainly not! At least it doesn't have to.

At your next Unit/Club meeting, consider organizing a summer event away from the Shrine where you can come together as a group and share an activity that you all enjoy. Have you already met? There is always email to get input from your group. The possibilities are endless. This is also a time to invite the ladies and depending on the event maybe even the kids.

So let your imagination run and decide what you will do this summer as a group. Just because we are dark doesn't mean that you have to be. Enjoy!!

Roger Tricco High Priest and Prophet

Editorial From an Old Red Fez...

We have all traveled through some troubling times since COVID first struck. Thankfully, we have survived, and now it is time to renew ourselves. As Shriners, we need to have fun and get the word out about Shriners Hospitals for Children.

One of the best ways to do this while having a good time is to attend El Zaribah Shrine functions, Shrine Club meetings, Shrine Unit meetings, and go to the Shrine Parades as a participant or spectator.

If you are not currently a member of a Club or Unit and would like to get involved, Clubs and Units are looking for you.

The Clubs and Units are listed on https://el-zaribah.org/units-clubs, and you can find who to contact for each one there.

Check out the Club or Unit you may be interested in. Check out several if they look interesting to you. The Nobles, who are members, will be happy to show you the ropes and make you feel at home.

By participating in Units that do the parades, you are a welcome sight and a fine advertisement for the Shriners and Our Hospitals.

You will reward yourself and become even more excited about what you do for our Kids and yourself.

Fraternally,

A Noble who has learned about and enjoyed the Shrine for over 50 years

CLOWNS UNIT

The El Zaribah Clown Unit has clowns been active in support of the Temple and its community outreach events during the spring. The phrase "here come the clowns" is used to introduce the Clown Unit to the attendees at the local parades, which is met with applause and laughter, as the clowns interact with the kids and their families along the parade route.

Several of the clowns attended the spring ceremonial to provide an introduction to the Clown Unit to the newly initiated Nobles and their families. They were able to make balloon animals and flowers during the event.

During the most recent stated meeting, two members of the unit, David "Squirty" Neal and Jeff "Boo Boo" Butler were given certificates of recognition for their contribution and service to El Zaribah.

In addition, an unnamed member of the Unit was able to make an appearance as the Easter Bunny during the Easter Brunch.

The Greeters Unit members split up into two squads on Saturday May 19th to participate in two simultaneous While some events. of the Nobles represented the at the Ahwatukee Shrine Easter Parade, the remainder welcome helped to the latest crop of Shriners at the Spring Ceremonial. Once the Ahwatukee parade concluded, the whole unit reunited at the Shrine to mix with the new Nobles, and show their spirit in the Ceremonial Parade. Clearly, the Greeters love a

GreeterMobile Update

The GreeterMobile is close to resuscitation! The GreeterMobile's Caretaker and Chief Mechanic, Jim "Jimbo" Contreras. has received a rebuilt engine and transmission. The Greeters had an installation party on Sunday, April 27th, at Jimbo's Yard to commemorate the milestone of reinstalling the engine. More work will need to be done before the GreeterMobile is ready for the road; however, getting the new motor in is certainly worthy of celebration.

Gun Raffle Update

Great news- all Gun Raffle tickets have been sold, and the raffle is closed! The drawing will be held at the May 14th El Zaribah Shrine stated meeting, and the winning ticket drawn by Potentate Lou Miranda. The lucky winner will pick up the pair of Smith & Wesson 9mm firearms at Bear Arms Firearms in Scottsdale, AZ. The Greeters plan on holding another raffle in the fall, with funds going towards the GreeterMobile beautification project.

MOUNTED PATROL

by, Fred Engle All Mounted Patrol has been absent at the last couple of Parades due to a shortage of Caballos. As in we ain't got any! But don't think we are down and out yet. There is a plan in formulation that I am not able to reveal at this time. I can tell you it is a bit wacky and certain to be fun. So please stay tuned as things develop. I hope to have it hatched by the next stated meeting.

TEMPLE GUARD UNIT

by, Dave Shaff The Temple Guard Picnic held on April 27th in Scottsdale's

Eldorado Park was a Culinary Success. The weather was cool and dry, which added to flavors produced by Head Chef Ron Miller (especially for his "customized" brats and grilled burgers!). Cold refreshments were supplemented by a legalone-day beer & wine license.

The Temple Guard recently helped the Greeters host the Crab Fest which was another which was another g a s t r o n o m i c triumph. Prompted by El Zaribah's Parade Chaiman, Jasper Nichols, a rebuild of the Temple Guard's 3 "small racing cars" is underway to put them back-on-the-road within the near future. Last year's TG Weekend in Mund's Park, planned as a "cool time" was cancelled due to a frying 109°F and with forecasts for an even hotter summer, the Temple Guard is studying where-and-how to host a cool weekend for us all.

HILLBILLY CLUB

Le Habiraz Clan # 65 of the International Shrine Hillbillies

The Hillbillies Club held its first 2025 event after last year's reorganization, with a new members' Hillbilly Degree Ceremony held adjacent to, and after, the Temple Guard picnic. Getting underway had been delayed as the Hillbillies had difficulties in getting a bank to open a low-cost non-profit account, but this has been resolved and new Hats, Pins, etc., will be ordered. Due to the "gap" between old and new staffing, we suspect that members may not have received membership certificates. Anybody without their "true" Hillbilly documentations should contact Cus'n David Shaff, Keeper of the Notes. Le Habiraz Clan # 65 of the International Shrine Hillbillies differs from some other Shrine clubs as both Nobles and their Ladies are equal members.

Tentative plans are to have a full meeting and update the Facebook page -- Le Habiraz #65 and work on an Outhouse Float so that we can participate in El Zaribah parades.

OUT and ABOUT

This quarter has been a busy one for our group. While we haven't participated in many parades, we have been enjoying the many events at the shrine. We are still in practice and learning mode and have made some exciting progress. Since our last update, our unit has grown with the addition of one new member and two new applicants.

Please join me in welcoming Uwe Nahrgang to the Motor Corps!

We're also excited to welcome Tony "Elk" McCandless to the Shrine. He was recently raised during our Spring Ceremonial and will soon be joining us as a fellow Motor Corps member.

LADIES ORGANIZATIONS

QADESH #35

Daughters of the Nile Stephany Jess, Queen Shoes and Organizations: More Similar Than You Might Imagine Form, function, and fit are attributes that apply to shoes and organizations. Well, that's an odd thought, and one might wonder how they tie together. It all began as a Saturday event at the Shrine, and a Queen must be fully put together from crown to toes.

I slid on the shoes and admired their form: a sleek suede pump with a shorter heel (as time passes, there is an inverse relationship between age and heel height), a nice neutral color, with plenty of toe room for the widening of the foot as age advances. The versatility of function for this particular shoe was pleasing. Long or short skirt, and these shoes would work with dressy pants. They were a fortunate thrift store find. The fit, however, left a bit to be desired, being a half size too large.

Organizations have the same attributes of form, function, and fit. Daughters of the Nile, as do all Masonic organizations, has a form. The ritual is filled with life truths and meaning; a blueprint for walking in this turbulent world. The vows and obligations are something pulled into the heart and mind and form part of who I am becoming. The lessons taught by each member in the ritual are memorable individually, but when looking at the overall message, Daughters of the Nile exemplifies the saying "the whole is greater than the sum of its parts."

All organizations have a function. That function might be the support of others in a professional aspect, creating personal growth, or in the form of community action. Daughters of the Nile, like the Shrine, supports Shriners Through Children's. our fundraising efforts, we have contributed over $70 million since our founding in 1924. In addition, countless hours are volunteered and donated items to the children exceed one million dollars annually. As a retired teacher, the focus on children is important to me personally.

I've belonged to multiple organizations, and some just didn't 'fit.' There isn't anything wrong with the organizations, and each one was deserving and worthwhile, but they just didn't work for me. Fortunately, Daughters of the Nile fits better than those shoes! That fit revolves around the saying "be the woman who fixes another woman's crown."

The crown I currently wear is a symbol of the faith my peers have in me to represent them and the Daughters of the Nile. In reality, every woman in the organization wears a metaphorical crown. Staying true to the meaning of the saying, each woman quietly supports and uplifts another, offering help, support, and encouraging personal growth in a safe environment. I have tripped, fallen, bloodied my knees, and been picked up quietly by other women. I've been loved and supported time and again by women who are beautiful in spirit and soul. My place among them, though I've doubted my worthiness, is welcomed and celebrated. This is what makes Daughters of the Nile a perfect organization that fits the imperfect me.

Membership requirements in Daughters of the Nile are similar to any of the other Masonic-affiliated groups; having a male relation who is a Mason in good standing. Additionally, as a patient of the Nile might be a 'perfect fit' for you, reach out to a member, your male Masonic member, or check out the website at www. daughtersofthenile.org.

Four Generations Share Familial, Fraternal Bonds

Service in the Fraternity Benefits Oneself Too, They Say

Meet the Goughs, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania. This vibrant family of Shriners spans generations, from the wise and spirited 91-year-old great-uncle Norman to the adventurous 27-year-old grandson Robert.

Despite their varied journeys to joining the fraternity, one message rings true: The bonds formed in Shrinedom empower them all. Whether it's Norman reminiscing about his family's legacy of service or Robert sharing his fresh perspective, they all agree – being a Shriner isn't just about giving back; it's about personal growth and connection.

United as a family, the Goughs' paths to membership varied, with two of them joining later in life. Yet, they all share the same message about being a Shriner: Men make themselves better – emotionally, spiritually, socially – when they connect with a larger community of positive individuals. That's true for Norman, as well as for Robert and his generation, they say.

"I tell people the Shrine is great for everybody," said Norman, whose four brothers and father were all Shriners. "It doesn't just help the children, though that is very important. When you become a part of it, you really are helping yourself."

Meet the Goughs, From Youngest to Oldest

Norman Gough, 91, became a Shriner at 56, following his four brothers and father into the fraternity. His brothers badgered him for years to join, he said, but work and family commitments held him back. When he retired, he moved to Arizona, where one of his brothers had the Potentate of El Zaribah Shriners pester him. It worked, and he jumped in "with both feet." He joined the patrol unit and even learned how to play the glockenspiel, well enough that he was able to play solos when called upon.

If you ask Norman what the best part about being in the fraternity has been, he avoids bragging about the glockenspiel and takes the camaraderie and personal growth for granted. Instead, he points to the children he was able to help get care from Shriners Children's. "That's so rewarding," he said.

Bob Gough, 83, likes to joke that retiring has been so hard it's taken him three attempts to get it right. He has a doctorate in engineering from Stanford University. His first job was in the U.S. Air Force, where, among other things, he helped test electronic equipment and taught at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Then, after his first retirement, he worked at Sandia National Laboratories, in Albuquerque, where he developed systems for verifying other countries' adherence to nuclear and other armscontrol treaties. After he retired from Sandia, he was selected as the senior American in the onsite inspection division of the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Organization. He moved to Vienna, Austria, the headquarters of the organization, and helped train inspectors from the other signatory states.

The award plaque and certificate are presented to Norman Gough by Shriners International.

Bob became a Shriner in 2021. Why? Because his son, Steven, was Potentate of the Ballut Abyad Shriners of Albuquerque. He says he had never joined because he was busy with his career and relocations. But once his son became Potentate, he was proud and needed to support him.

Steve Gough, 58, joined the fraternity when he was 30, nine years after becoming a Mason. Before the age of 30, medical school and his medical residency as an OB-GYN kept him so busy that he had little time for anything else. Following his residency, Steve did a stint in the U.S. Air Force, following in the footsteps of his father. He spent much of his time in the Air Force in Nebraska, where he was somewhat active in Masonry.

But then, in 1996, his brother-in-law, Thomas Dinsmore, joined the Ballut Abyad Shriners. Steve, who had left the Air Force and returned to Albuquerque to start his civilian medical practice, figured he might as well, too. Steve has been very active in the fraternity since, serving as Ballut Abyad Potentate in 2021. Currently, he serves as the regional membership director.

Steve thinks little has changed since his great-uncle joined. "I think we're still helping kids, and we're still having a good time," he said. "And that's what really matters."

Robert Gough, 27, became a Shriner when he was 19 because his friends from DeMolay were joining, and he had had a good time in DeMolay. That's when, despite all his familial familiarity with the fraternity, he discovered what the Shriners were all about. He moved away from Albuquerque to attend West Texas A&M University, and though he didn't know anyone in Khiva Shriners in Amarillo, they reached out and supported him in a variety of ways, he said. They even helped him with the field studies he needed to complete in order to get his degree.

As the youngest member in the family and a member of the Ballut Abyad Shriners Divan, Robert thinks the Shriners fraternity is more essential than ever. "The world is always changing, whether we like it or not," he said. "We have to adapt, because especially in a changing world, men need connections to something, and to others, more than ever."

The four generations of the Gough family stand alongside Junior Past Imperial Potentate Kenneth Craven.
